Conversational Hypnosis: Clean Language to Induce & Deepen Mindfulness in Self & Interpersonal Communications

In this Workshop, you will learn and be able to use 4 Clean Language (CL) questions that:

- Focus attention solely on your client's internal perceptual relationships and metaphoric patterns of thinking.
- Deepen understanding and open the doorway to mindful awareness without having to explore emotional issues.
- Facilitate recognition of how language influences imagery and frames the inner world.
- Transforms awareness so it naturally and organically designs action.

Objectives:

1. You will be able to identify the four primary CL questions to deepen metaphor and induce trance.

2. You will be able to identify how to use CL questions to facilitate your client's focus from a problem, to a remedy, to a solution while in trance.

3. You will be able to apply CL in assessing their client's goals and identifying what your client wants to have happen in their session.

4. You will understand and be able to identify the difference between CL and non-CL.

What is Clean Language?

From my professional perspective, as a practicing clinical psychologist and coach since 1973, Clean Language and its derivative tools are unsurpassed in their power.

Clean Language creates an immediate deepening of self-awareness with amazing practical applications.

The idea behind Clean Language, developed by David Grove (1950-2008), is to remove the therapist/coach's influence and biases as much as possible from the process. This is the basis of the term "clean." It refers to a way of working that uses the client/patient/coachee's own words as the basis for further questioning.

Why is this method so effective?

With none of your metaphors, assumptions, or points-of-view infused into the conversation, Clean Language gives your clients full freedom to use their own words as the basis of healing and change. This means that rather than working with your interpretations of their metaphors, your clients only relate to and utilize their own perceptions. After all, it is only the client's metaphors that count.

One of my clients said,

"This was, by far, the best therapeutic experience I've ever had." What would normally have taken two-years of digging around in my subconscious in traditional therapy, we accomplished in just 15-minutes!"

Clean Language improves the quality and clarity of communication and understanding in a respectful and insightful way without the risk of judgments or interpretations. Clean Language is a tool that anyone can safely use.

President, SCSCH

- Do you want a tool you can use right away that powerfully, effectively, and safely facilitates the depth of self-awareness?
- Do you want to simply, consistently, and easily access deep-seated metaphors?
- Do you want a completely non-directive tool that is free of assumptions?
- Do you want to facilitate organic transformation while connecting naturally at a heart level?

Clean Language (CL) is a conversational hypnotic tool. By using the clients own language, you elicit their internal metaphoric images and deepen the trance state.

CL builds on the client's inner resources and desired outcomes facilitating powerful transformations.

CL emphasizes the fundamental intelligence and purposive nature of internal imagery and functioning. It engages the client in a mindful inner goal-directed process from which new meanings and imagery emerge.
